A Brother's Devotion. A Masanchusetts Boy Sacrificing his Life in Sacraments while Trying to Rescue his Brother from Juli.

Abont fifteen years ago a yonng man usmed Charles Film, reslding in Lynn, left home and was never heard from until four or five weeks ago, when his brother received a letter from him from Sacramento, Cal., stating that he was in tromble, that it wase a case of his and death with him, and desiring him to come on and see him. The brother is started about a month ago to go to California, and there learned that his hrother Charles was in jall, under the name of Mortimer, on a charge of murder. The sequel is told in a copy of the Sacramento Daily Union, from which we copy:

A daring attempt was made at half-past one in the morning to resene Chas. Mortimer, the murderer of Mrs. Gibson, from the county jail. The effort was frustrated and the principal actor killed by the vigilance and decision of Deputy Sheriff Manuel L. Cross, who was on duty at that hour. On the weat side of Sheriff Manuel L. Cross, who was on duty at that hour. On the week side of the jnil is an open court or jail yard, sbont elghty feet square, which is surrounded by a brick wall twenty feet high. A man whese name is believed to be Flinn scaled the wall by means of a ladder taken from n grocery atore in the vicinity. Leaving his hat and hoots on the ontside to accomplish this feat, he placed the ladder on the west side of the wall in the rear of an unoccupied building, where his movements could not be seen from the street.

Having reached the top of the wall, he passed to the roof of a shed in the jail yard used as n hoiler house, and lowered himself by means of a wire gny attached to the smokestack which had extended aeross it, but which he broke at one end. This much was sloue without alarming the jailor on guard. The main hall of the jail in which the eclis are located is connected with the yard by a doorway, which is closed by a heavy fron cross-bar door on the inside, and a wooden door on the outside. The wooden door was closed, but not locked. Deputy Sheriff Cross was on duty jaside the was closed, but not locked. Deputy Sheriff Cross was on duty iaside the jail. When the bell was rung from the door which epens from the cont to the open yard en the street, the officer, it appears, had some reason for extreme caution, fearing, possibly, of an attempt to reseque the prisoner.

the gnilty of so base an act—an act entirely out of keeping with his past character.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Ilo was doing welf in Lynn in business with another brother. The daring attempt he made was doubtless actuated by brotherly love.

WEYNOUTH, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1873.

And the street of self had to sustain very heavy charges to rescorts, provisions, transport, &c., during these long journeys. The first change was made in 1858, when the exites were sent from St. Petersburg to Moscow by rail. In 1861 a committee was formed, under the Presidency of Herr Heyden, to improve the condition of the exites, and in 1865 the Government appointed inspectors to consider what referus might be desirable. One of these was stationed between Nijni-Novgorod and Timeny, and the other between Timeny mal Tomsk. In 1867 the the exites of n girl pupil whom sile punished. One of these was stationed between Nijni-Novgorod and Timeny, and the other between Timeny nml Tomsk. In 1867 Baron Viliot proposed that the exiles should not march during the winter, and that at that season of the year they should be quartered in certain towns and given employment. The proposal, which greatly alleviated the sufferings of these unfortunate people, was tibally play we take higher and lower seats, which greatly nileviated the sufferings of these unfortunate people, was finally accepted by the Minister of the Interigue or, who at the same time directed that the prisoners should in future be conveyed by rail, steamer, or ear. In 1869 the Government entered into a contract with the merchant, Mikhailoff, for the vide for the health and comfort of the exiles, lint also causes a considerable saving to the Government, for instead of 186 stations, consisting of 186 officers, 493 sub-officers, 5,046 soldiers, 726 pensioners, 186 servauts, and 125 horses, there were on the first of Jannary, 1873, forty-tive statious only, with a smaller number of troops.

some time past. He was also encouraged to believe from its cheerful tone that his health had considerably improved since leaving Washington. He wrote that he had a cold and bleak ride to New York, but escaped much diseamfort, as he rode in a compartment ear, or rather "in a box," as he would call it; that he had been greatly relieved on seeing his children and some of his seeing his children and some of his grand-children, and felt better than when he left. He then sent, by Judge Worden, a kind message w sympathy to Col. The Chief-Justice has been for a long time under the impression that his disease was the result of a fever and agne contracted several years ago in Michigan, the peculiar feature of which was physicial wenkaess and inability to labor continuously. For this reason lor has for some time past refrained from attempting any protracted mental labor.

What Science Says About it. At a meeting of the American Public Health Association, the following paper relative to the epizootic disease was read:

The report of A. B. Judaon, M. D., on the epizootic influenza of 1872 and 1873, gave an outline of the results of the investigation ordered by the Health Department of New York. Records of the investigation was travel, back eare. It is a disease that must run its course, and lasts from one to three weeks. The complications are, however, in many cases serious, and require special treatment. The post-morten examinations showed that the action of the specific poison is on the muens membrane of the respiratory organs.

Twenty-four bundred norses and in New York during the ten weeks which the disease prevailed. About 900 would have died in the absence of any musual disease, as the average weekly mortality is about 90. It may be said, therefore, is about 90. It may be said, therefore, that 1,500 horses were destroyed in New York by the epizootie. The number of horses stabled in New York, according to a census taken by the Board of Health in 1871, is about 40,000. Nearly 4 percent (.039) were destroyed by the epizootic. Every horse and mule, with zootie. Every horse and mule, with searcely a single exception, was attacked by the disease. It may therefore be stated that nearly 4 per eent, of cases are fatal. The disease appeared tirst at Toronto, Canada, on Sept. 30, 1872. It spread from that point North, South, East, and West. Its first appearance in the United States was at Niagara Falls, early in October. It appeared at Chicago October 29, St. Lonis December I. Omalia December I. The testimony, although eirenmstantial, shows conclusively that Fitts, after going to hed on the uight spoken of, got up, took an axo and backless chair, walked through the mud nearly a mile, went into the windows of a house wherein he had never been before, possed through eyepen rooms to the wherein he had never been before, passed through several rooms to the bedroom wherein the Emerson boy was asleep, and horribly chopped him up, then left the house, returned to his own bed and went to sleep until he was called in the morning. Although this is his drst nurderous attack while in a state of sommanbulism, he has frequently had these tits of night walking and performed the most marvelous acts. at the October term of the Supreme 3ndicial Court, and he would frankly state that should no new developments be shown he should not present a case to the Grand Jury. This is a case such as no law in this country ever contemplated. Insanity is pravided for, but not somnambulism, and the case is without a norallal somnambulism, and the case is without a parallel.

Justice Hodgdon placed the bail at $500, which is a virtual acquittal. That the boy could lave done this without getting a spot of blood upon him, and get out of the honsowhere he slept after being so securely fastened, commit the net as he did, and back again to bed, is a profound and wonderful mystery.

The Fitts boy returned to Lowell with his father, and the Emerson boy will brise father, and the Emerson boy will probably recover.

The Nashville wemen, a little while ago, aunounced their intention of being economical and wearing calico to church. At last accommist they had only succeeded in making a dress cost $19.50, but they are now going to trim them with Valenciennes, and do not despair.

A poor servant-girl, living in Decatur, Ill., has labored and saved for years, that she might send money to dermany, to bring over her father, mother, and five histories and sisters.

The hall was literally packed, and to add to the entertainment of the audience, the Amateur Orchestra of East Weymouth kindly tendered their gratuitous service in farmishing music for the occasion, in return for a like favor which was bestowed upon the Orchestra a short time ago. The marked improve-ment and decided talent displayed in the musical performance received the merited approbation of the audience, and the endeavors of the Orchestra to losser a genuine musical taste in the community wil redound to their own homor and benefit.

MAY SUPPER .- This name was applied to a gathering at the vestry of Mr. Som-ton's church, South Weymouth, Tuesday evening, May 13. It was eminently sug-gestive of the most prominent feature of gestive of the most prominent leature in the evening, namely eating. Next to this —if it illd not come first—was conversa-tion by a part of those present, at least. We leave the reader to decide which part. The committee on mosic were strangely silent, yet we were not entirely destitute of that attraction, for the music made by the mingling of happy childish voices is always pleasant. Never before has such activity and determination been displayed by farmers in organizing for united and effective action in behalf of their interests. tivo action in behalf of their interests. In the West and in the East, farmers' chibs exist, or are being formed, in nearly every township, and in nany localities in every school district. And when by means of their town, county and State organizations, the hand owners and land workers of this country shall insist that their interests must be respected, that demand will be complied with.

In reply to the question, what will prevent hens from picking feathers, a correspondent of the Mivror and Farmer remarks that heus, like other two-legged animals, need something to do some exercise, and if they do not get something better they will risk each.

Some brilliant examples of successful farming in Minnesota are given in a letter from Duluth. A lawyer bought 2,000 neres of hand near St. Paul for $21,000, and sowed $1,700 neres in wheat. In two years his net profits from exceptionally good epops of $35,700 wheat. In two years his net profits from exceptionally good crops of 35,700 boshels the first year and 39,000 hashels the second amounted to $35,000. A Swede stricken in health went to the State with $2.50 in his pecket, and worked for wages until he was able to buy a few acres, which he planted in wheat. His first crop brought him in $1,000, or four times the value of the land, leaving him with a clear balance after all payments were made of $3,000. Then he sold his land for $27 an acre, or $3,100, making him richer by $6,240. Then he had started one year previously. Another man on a twenty-seven-acre farm found himself with nearly $1,000 clear profit at the eard of the order of the o ottom of the jan, and is kept for another time.

Remove every affected hog at one from the healthy ones, and bury all carcasses immediately.

Those who thought best of him believed he was sure, sooner or later, to do great things. In the meantime, he had the misfortune to be poor. The young fruit of the orelard of Mr. Wright, of Cornwall, was invariably so wormy that the owner thought of abandoning the attempt to grow fruit for profit. The orelard was converted into a log pasture, and in two years the fruit was all fair.

the stocks are flunght and sold.....person and illistory of the stock Hualness.

The secret history of a year's transactions at the stock exchange, New York, a correspondent says, would make one of the most thrilling volumes of modera date, and its tales of agony and despair would end in the darkest depths of fictitions tragedy. How many lung dreds have been ruined is to be only reckeded by the proportion of these who have made hers. The profits and eestacies of the hunderstood that there is ue money made hers. The profits and eestacies of the sorrews and misery of the nulleky. Not a dollar is added to the winning pile that has not cost grief, and perhaps despair, to some unfortunate venturer. Few, indeed, have been known to pass any length of time in this kind of gaming without coming to ruin. The brokers get rich out of thesa victims, and as fast as oun is cleaned on tanother comes, for the supply of fools is inexhanistible. A gentleman once asked a broker how he could hear to ito business with these deluded men, who, as he knew, were gradually going to ruin.

"Oh," said he, "we get used to it. Of course we know they will all lose—some ness with these deluded men, who, as he knew, were gradually going to ruin. "Oh," said he, "we get used to it. Of course we know they will all lose—some more and some less—but they will keep on as long as their pile lasts. However, as we do only what they order we are not to blame." The complicity of brokers with apparent fraud is morally wrong. Tainter's brokers knew be had no capital to meet his tremendons losses, and they must have heen certain that he was robbing the bank; but still they continued their assistance and renped the larvest till the very last.

Taintor's cose reminds me of that of l'aymaster Hodge of the United States army, who was imprisoned for defaleation two years ago, having sink enor-tion two years ago, having sink enor-mons sums in stock operations. Both he and Tuintor bad their brief terms of gainers in the field, but the fascination of a speemhnor's life is such that few can stop while there is a dollar left. Snecess as a general thing only leads to the machine. I am starying the dog, on meal of raw beef and whisky in two days, to make him savage, but I I have no more confidence in bim. The bally gets into the wheel and unkes an a ceident of herself every few minutes, the emary won't sing miles the machine is running, and the pic is left to burn while a long seam is finished. The man will come back, and we shall sell the kitchen stove or the purior carpet, and buy the machine. That is the way it will turn out. We shall probably sell the purior carpet because it is not paid for yet, and then the stove is not worth an effect of the purior carpet because it is not paid for yet, and then the stove is not worth an entire, we must have an ordinance against sewing machine men. If another one gets into the house I shall go inlow harvingtey—Utica Heraid.

Philosophy of Gentleness.

Some boys once wished to get a boat across a stream. There was a girl on the side of the stream with the boat, but she did not dare to attempt to padde the looat over. So the boys tied a stone to the end of a kite-string, and the making a coil of the twine out the shore, they threw the end of a kitestring. The many make of a larky operator, "He may make to more years the work then him." Men and some row there is will fetch him." Men and they operator, "He may make to more years been all the won't keep it; and some row leave the five more wow, but he won't keep it; and some row leave the five more wow, but he won't keep it; and some row leave the may make of inches excitencest. All the may make to the fever of speenlation. The naighty passion absorbs their entire existence that it will fetch him." Men and the voice of reason becomes entirely silenced.

Wall street history is one long eluronicle of shipwreek, and as we review it for a few past years wo are met by striking examples. How many of the brokers and speenlators fall dead—thor some gets in to the house I shall go inlow the did not divide the past years. From a small begin for tent years. That farmers can do well by establishing purchasing agencies there is an doubt, because it has been proved. At Avoa, Ill., the Farmers Club employed an agent to buy groceries, implements, and whatever they needed, on a commission of three per cent. They saved during the year about $3,000. Of course they paid cash, and undoubtedly some of the profits were due to this. Herein is the great advantage, for whoever buys on credit must pay from 20 to 40 per cent for the privilege.
